Chapter 2:

The Challenge

With a partnership that has spanned over 30 years, the collaboration between Comtec Presentations and BAE Systems Barrow has been solidified through mutual trust and respect.

The event required strict adherence to a Nuclear Facility Operational Policy, highlighting the attention to detail and precision that both teams brought to the table.

Chapter 3:

The Solution & Outcome

The event team consisted of 50 exceptionally trained individuals, working seamlessly as one cohesive unit to bring the project to life. With a combined experience of 250 years of working in a nuclear submarine engineering workshop, the team possessed the expertise and knowledge necessary to execute the event flawlessly.

The amalgamated team leader experience of over 200 years of working in live events all over the world ensured that the project was managed efficiently and effectively. With 750 hours of project management and engineering pre-production, every detail was meticulously planned and executed to perfection.

The technical setup for the event was impressive, featuring over 4000 meters of mains and control cables, 200 moving head lights, 30 large screen backlit LED screens, 10 line-array sound systems, and more. The event also incorporated sophisticated audiovisual equipment, including pre-programmed UHD cameras and supporting units.

Chapter 3:

The Solution & Outcome Contd

The event space was transformed with 1000 meters of box truss, 2,500 square meters of drapes, 2000 square meters of super-stock flooring and 150 square meters of VIP tiered seating. The logistics of the event were handled with precision, with 8 articulated trucks and 6 support vehicles ensuring a smooth setup and teardown process.

The Reveal Paralleled the Naming of Boat 6, Agamemnon for the Royal Navy with its world leading technology, and manufacturing and operation capabilities. The event symbolised the successful partnership between Comtec Presentations and BAE Systems Barrow in revealing this Nuclear Submarine to the world.

The event served as a testament to the power of collaboration, expertise and dedication to the men & women of both BAE Systems Barrow and Comtec Presentations in creating yet another truly memorable experiences.
