FIRE TABLES

TALKING ABOUT OUR HISTORY OR MAKING OF ALFRESCO

Alfresco Fire Tables story began in Croatia. While on holiday we dined out at a steak restaurant which had outside heating for diners and people just having a drink.

The restaurant was very busy with people enjoying the ambiance. Then a couple next to us cooked their own steak and we thought what an experience and they really enjoyed having the meal just how they wanted it. We then thought this would be great for the UK hospitality and the domestic market to invite friends and family round and create not just a warm environment but enjoy the fun of cooking your own meal together rather than someone having to slave over the barbecue. We also noticed at the restaurant the mesmerising flames created a wow factor, and people loved the seamless blend of elegant design and practical warmth. Without doubt this will reshape the UK hospitality scene and domestic market.

Alfresco Fire Tables UK Limited negotiated the sole UK rights, and we look forward to helping the hospitality market and bring back fun into cooking at home bringing family and friends together.
