

FIRE COMPARTMENTATION SURVEYS

Concise and Accurate Site Surveys — Protecting Compartmentation Integrity

Fire compartmentation divides a building into fire-resistant zones to slow the spread of fire and smoke. Without intact compartmentation, the entire fire strategy can be compromised. OCD FM provides detailed Fire Compartmentation Surveys to identify breaches and vulnerabilities throughout your premises.

What We Do

Our surveyors carry out a methodical inspection of all fire-resistant walls, floors, ceilings and penetrations, documenting the location and condition of every compartment boundary.

We identify any breaches, unsealed cable or pipe penetrations, damaged fire-stopping materials or compromised structural elements, that could allow fire or smoke to travel between compartments.

All findings are recorded in a comprehensive report with photographic evidence, location references and recommended remedial actions to restore compartmentation integrity. Reports support your fire risk assessment and provide a baseline for ongoing compartmentation management.
