Project: Humanscale

Business Area: Commercial/Office

When global multi award winning ergonomic office tools specialists Humanscale set about refurbishing their London showroom in Clerkenwell they called on Clarke Rendall to create the main reception desk. "The space has always looked crisp and professional, but we took this opportunity to inject a bit of personality and create a more pleasant and welcoming environment" commented Designer Jack Finnerty. The evolution® Xpression CURVE reception desk from Clarke Rendall played a key role in achieving this goal.

The new evolution® Xpression CURVE XBP-1WL standard product: The inspiration for the final design

Based on some initial concepts from Jack, the creative team at Clarke Rendall put forward a design that met all Humanscale's requirements while also offering the potential of the evolution® Xpression signature LED lit recessed feature panel to display the Humanscale logo and create a visual link to the LED lit feature ceiling canopy of the showroom space.

Humanscale Sales Director Steve Lewis is emphatic in his appreciation of the new counter with comments such as "Looks amazing", "fantastic" and "makes a huge difference to the showroom."
