Project: Suscon

Dealer: Complete Group

Business Area: Education

Sustainable Construction Training and Research Centre Suscon at Dartford, is a brand new institution pioneering a new approach to an important area for the future. When Trevor White, MD of Complete Group, began to focus his attention on the design of the reception area, he wanted a desk that could command a large open space and deliver real visual impact without compromising functionality. "Sometimes, you need to make statement" he explained "and with Clarke Rendall's help, we certainly achieved that".

From the outset, Trevor was very clear about the styling and specific elements that the desk should feature, and the design team at Clarke Rendall called on their many years experience at interpreting and enhancing initial concepts to bring together a solid working design. The moment Trevor saw the bold choice of colours put forward by the Clarke Rendall team, he knew he'd made the right decision when placing the order.

The installation was carried out with typical Clarke Rendall precision and Trevor was confident he could rely on Clarke Rendall to deliver superb build quality. On inspecting the final product however, he happily acknowledged that it was "actually even better than I was expecting".

The stunning 4.3m reception desk, finished in white, dark grey, green and blue lacquer, proves once again that with the right degree of design understanding it is possible to create something completely out of the ordinary that delivers instant impact backed up by solid performance.
