Uniform/Garment systems

The Unitek range

If you need to make certain that clean work wear is held securely and yet is available for individuals around the clock, and that soiled work wear is both tidy and secure, the managed garment system is the simple choice.

In the Garment Dispenser each user has a lockable personal compartment which is uniquely keyed. Two keys are supplied for each lock to guard against loss. The operative filling the dispenser uses a single key that gives them simultaneous access to all the compartments in a unit, so there is no need for them to have to open each individual compartment.

The garment collector features a single 'posting' slot behind which there is a baffle that makes pilferage difficult. The garments can collect within the unit, or an optional laundry sack can be hung inside to make collection even simpler.
