

Suave Wine Bar, Westbury

Sophisticated Flooring for the Suave Wine Bar

Background

The owners of a new wine bar in Westbury, Wiltshire decided that the interior design should be both striking and a little unusual, using a material that was natural but would still create a stunning visual statement. Having carried out some extensive research into a range of paving options and possible suppliers, the owners of the new Suave Wine Bar specified their requirements for a high quality resin bound product from SureSets natural gravel range provided with professional installation.

Solution

Our specialist installers PJJ Contractors Ltd were contracted to complete the installation in Westbury.

The new InBound range was developed specifically for interior work offering a wide range of colour options to suit almost any application. Providing a floor colour that would complement the overall design theme of the wine bar, SureSet Norwegian Bronze was ultimately selected, providing a blend of warm shades of brown and bronze. To provide a completely waterproof surface, PJJ applied two final coats of colourless sealant to the finished surface. Installing a 3mm aggregate across an area of 59m² the finish had to be perfect, ensuring the surface was properly screeded and trowelled to provide a completely level finish across the whole floor.

Result

The result is stunning and the owners of the new wine bar are absolutely delighted with the colour and finish having provided a durable, elegant surface that is virtually maintenance free, which will maintain its colour throughout its entire life.
