

MARBLE

Marble is formed from Limestone that has undergone extreme heat and pressure within the earth's core.

Its resulting fine crystalline structure allows it to be highly polished but is also available in a variety of other finishes from contemporary, honed through to a rustic tumbled look.

It is very durable and suitable for a wide variety of domestic and commercial uses.