Durrington First and Middle School

The stage 1 tender submission from Fordingbridge was exemplary and met the client requirements. During the stage 2 process we worked closely with Stephen to value engineer the final design to ensure delivery of the project within the clients budget. Fordingbridge took a very proactive role to ensure that costs were clearly presented and transparent. This allowed for future adjustments/variations to be easily managed and conveyed to the client.

...[Senior project manager] Stephen Toone maintained a “can do” proactive attitude during the project, refreshing given the current economic environment.

...I would have no hesitation in working with Stephen and Fordingbridge on future projects. ”

Robert Wilson, Hampson Partnership - on completion of a new sustainable dining hall for Durrington Middle School

My initial concerns relating to the construction of the dining hall on a busy site with over 750 young pupils at the same time as a double mobile classroom was being erected on an adjacent site, were soon allayed. Fordingbridge's calm and efficient approach to the situation was not only reassuringly professional, but inspired confidence as they successfully balanced the needs of the project and the reality of a busy educational site. ”

Alison Cornell, Headteacher, Durrington Middle School

Leicester City Council

“ The quality of the build and value for money means that we would definitely consider using Fordingbridge again for future projects. They were very friendly, helpful and approachable, acted professionally providing guidance to us in the delivery process and helping us maintain our deadlines by adjusting their programme when required. The team listened to us and negotiated very well addressing our needs (as per our specifications, including variations effectively. ”

Vicky Wibberly, Interim Head of Service Capital at Leicester City Council

Aylsham High School

“ The fact that we were able to procure such an attractive and versatile space, in such a short timescale, for such a good price, and to such a high standard means that I am absolutely certain that I have got the best possible deal for my students. The fact that they love the space so much is perhaps the greatest stamp of approval possible. ”

Duncan Spalding, Headteacher, Aylsham High School

Surrey County Council

“ The building is so striking. As well as the high standard of construction and design, we have a very successful working relationship with Fordingbridge. We set a tight deadline but they rose to the challenge brilliantly and delivered an amazing result. ”
