

ABOUT US.

QTP Environmental provides sales, distribution technical support and service for Environmental Test Products. We focus on Environmental Test Chambers and related products/services.

Our primary product supplier CTS GmbH is a major EU manufacturer of Environmental Test Chambers. CTS Environmental Test Chambers have been in use extensively across the UK since the mid 1990's in multiple industries.

QTP Environmental is a UK limited company operating from offices and workshops in Sudbury on the Suffolk/Essex border.

We have a formal and exclusive distribution agreement from CTS GmbH and are substantially supported by them both commercially and technically.

Our personnel are experienced in chamber selection, operation, and support, whether the chamber is new, second user or rental.

QTP Environmental director Stephen Mathews has been involved with Environmental Test Chambers since 2006 and directly with CTS GmbH since 2008.

QTP Environmental personnel are drawn from the Test & Reliability industry and have strong experience of Environmental Test and Chambers.

QTP Environmental aim to provide:

- Quality Test Products – low cost of ownership – high “uptime” and reliability.
- Performance orientated test equipment – high integrity specification – the products do what they are supposed to properly and when you need them to.

- Experienced support – pre purchase product selection – purchase – installation – operation – control – maintenance – repair etc.
- A focus on quality that lasts.
- A common sense approach to Environmental Test product requirements – we may not always have what you need but we will try to help.

If you are already a user/operator of CTS Chambers QTP Environmental will provide all the service and support you need with the full backing and resources of CTS GmbH behind us.
